YEARLING 1968

1967-1968

Alma Mater

This is our Alma Mater,
Our song of Thurston High;
We're loyal to our colors;
Our Spirit will not die.
Inspired by our knowledge,
We'll strive for higher goals;
And though our paths may part one day,
We'll still have in our minds
The thoughts of Thurston High School,
And of God and all mankind.

Four Make All-District

Four Thurston football players earned All-District recognition this year. Heading up the group was senior tackle Bernie Schelsky. Bernie was selected as a first team defensive tackle and second team at the same position on offense. Bernie was co-captain and won the outstanding lineman award. He was also honorable mention All-State.

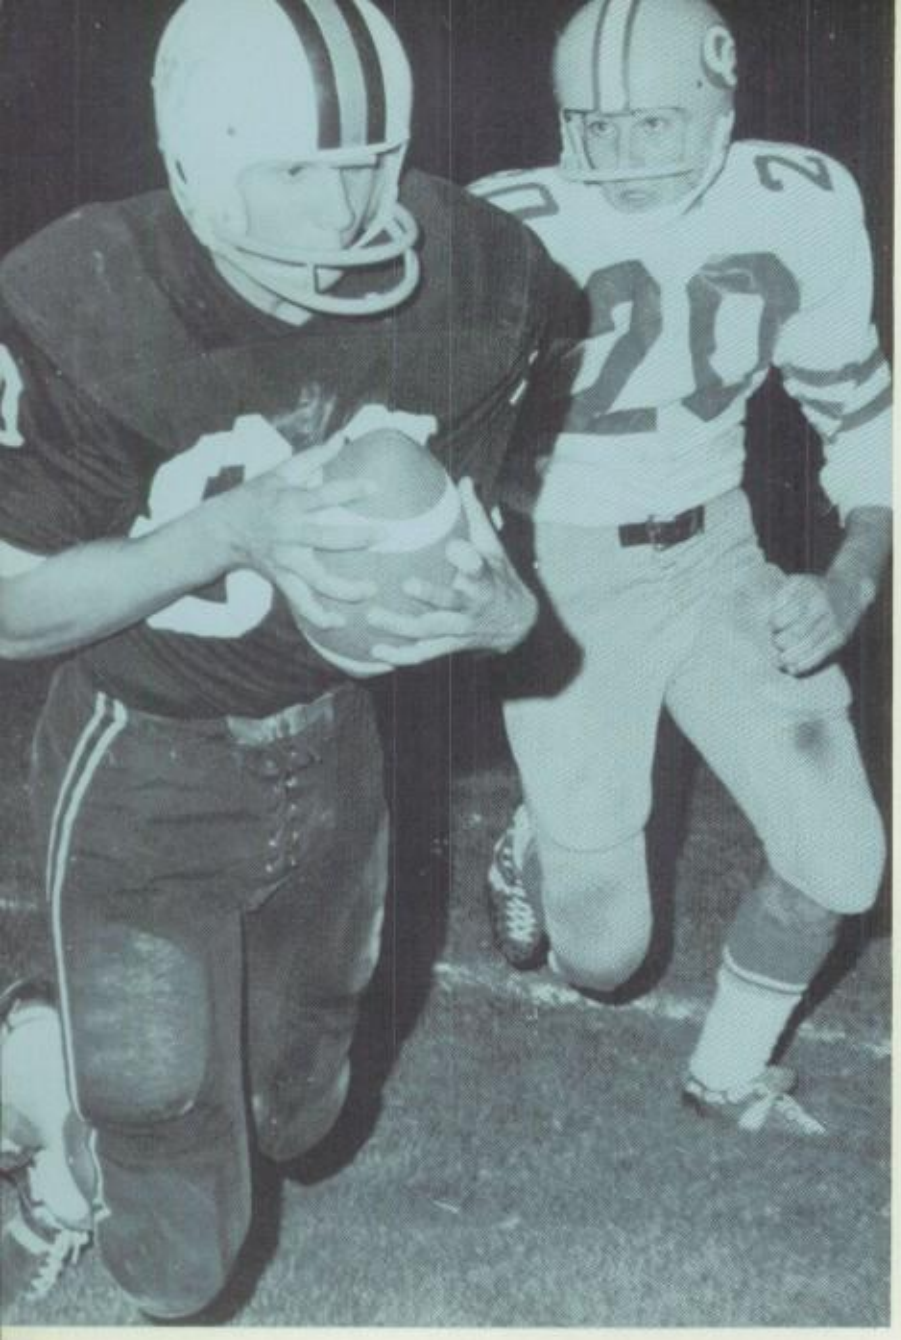
Next on the list was junior split-end Tom Ott. Tom received district honors as first team end and second team defensive halfback. Tom received the most valuable player award. This marks the first time that a junior has won the award at Thurston.

Senior Rod Barrett was selected on second team All-District at offensive guard. Rod also played linebacker on defensive.

Randy Rosin rounds out the list, making second team defensive end. Randy also played tight-end on offense.

The team had two significant firsts this year. The first was a 19-14 win over South Eugene. This is the first time the Colts have ever beaten South at football. This win over South started the Colts on a four game winning streak.

The other first was not so sweet. It was the first loss to Springfield in six years. Coach Cochran and his men vow that it will be the last.



Split-end Tom Ott receives a pass against Cottage Grove defender, Curt Wicks.

Tailback Dennis Green gets downfield blocking from Colt line.

J.V.'s Show Promise

The J.V. football season ended with a 5 and 2 record. One of the highlights of their season was a 38-13 win over cross-town rivals, Springfield. Another accomplishment was a 48-14 win over Churchill.

There was much potential on this year's team, and many of these faces will be seen on the varsity team next fall. The young gridders had an explosive offense and a steady, hard-hitting defense which is evident by their scores.

Harriers Take Third

The Colt harriers finished their season with an outstanding 7 and 1 record. They placed second behind Marshfield in the district meet, and came in third in state, just three points behind co-winners Corvallis and North. The team was comprised of a strong core of seniors. Coach John Luker is looking for these boys to be outstanding this spring in track.

Daryl Ortis executes a difficult dive.

Swimming

Team Shows Improvement

The swimmers completed their season with a 2 and 7 record. There was marked improvement over last year's record, proven by the fact that there were seven new school records established.

Rod Levinson placed as the most outstanding swimmer for three years in a row. He also established four records while at Thurston. Two of them were set this year.

Duke Parks was the outstanding sophomore swimmer. He scored forty-six points making him the second highest scorer this year.

Team poised for start of 50 yard freestyle.

Coach Lloyd Drake points out the strategy during a time out.

Basketball

Mini-Colts Make Fine Showing

The Colts had a good season this year, winning seven of eleven league games, considering the fact that they were the shortest team in the district. They had balanced scoring and worked hard as a team.

One of their better games was the game at Marshfield, when the Colts beat the state tournament bound Pirates on their home court. Other highlights included two wins over the Millers of Springfield. The second with the Millers was a thriller going down to the final two seconds when Dan Allbritton sank a 35-foot shot at the buzzer.

Aaron Skirvin was selected by his teammates as the most valuable player. He was the leading rebounder and fourth in scoring on the team.

Bob Campbell was chosen to third team All-District and was the leading scorer for the season.

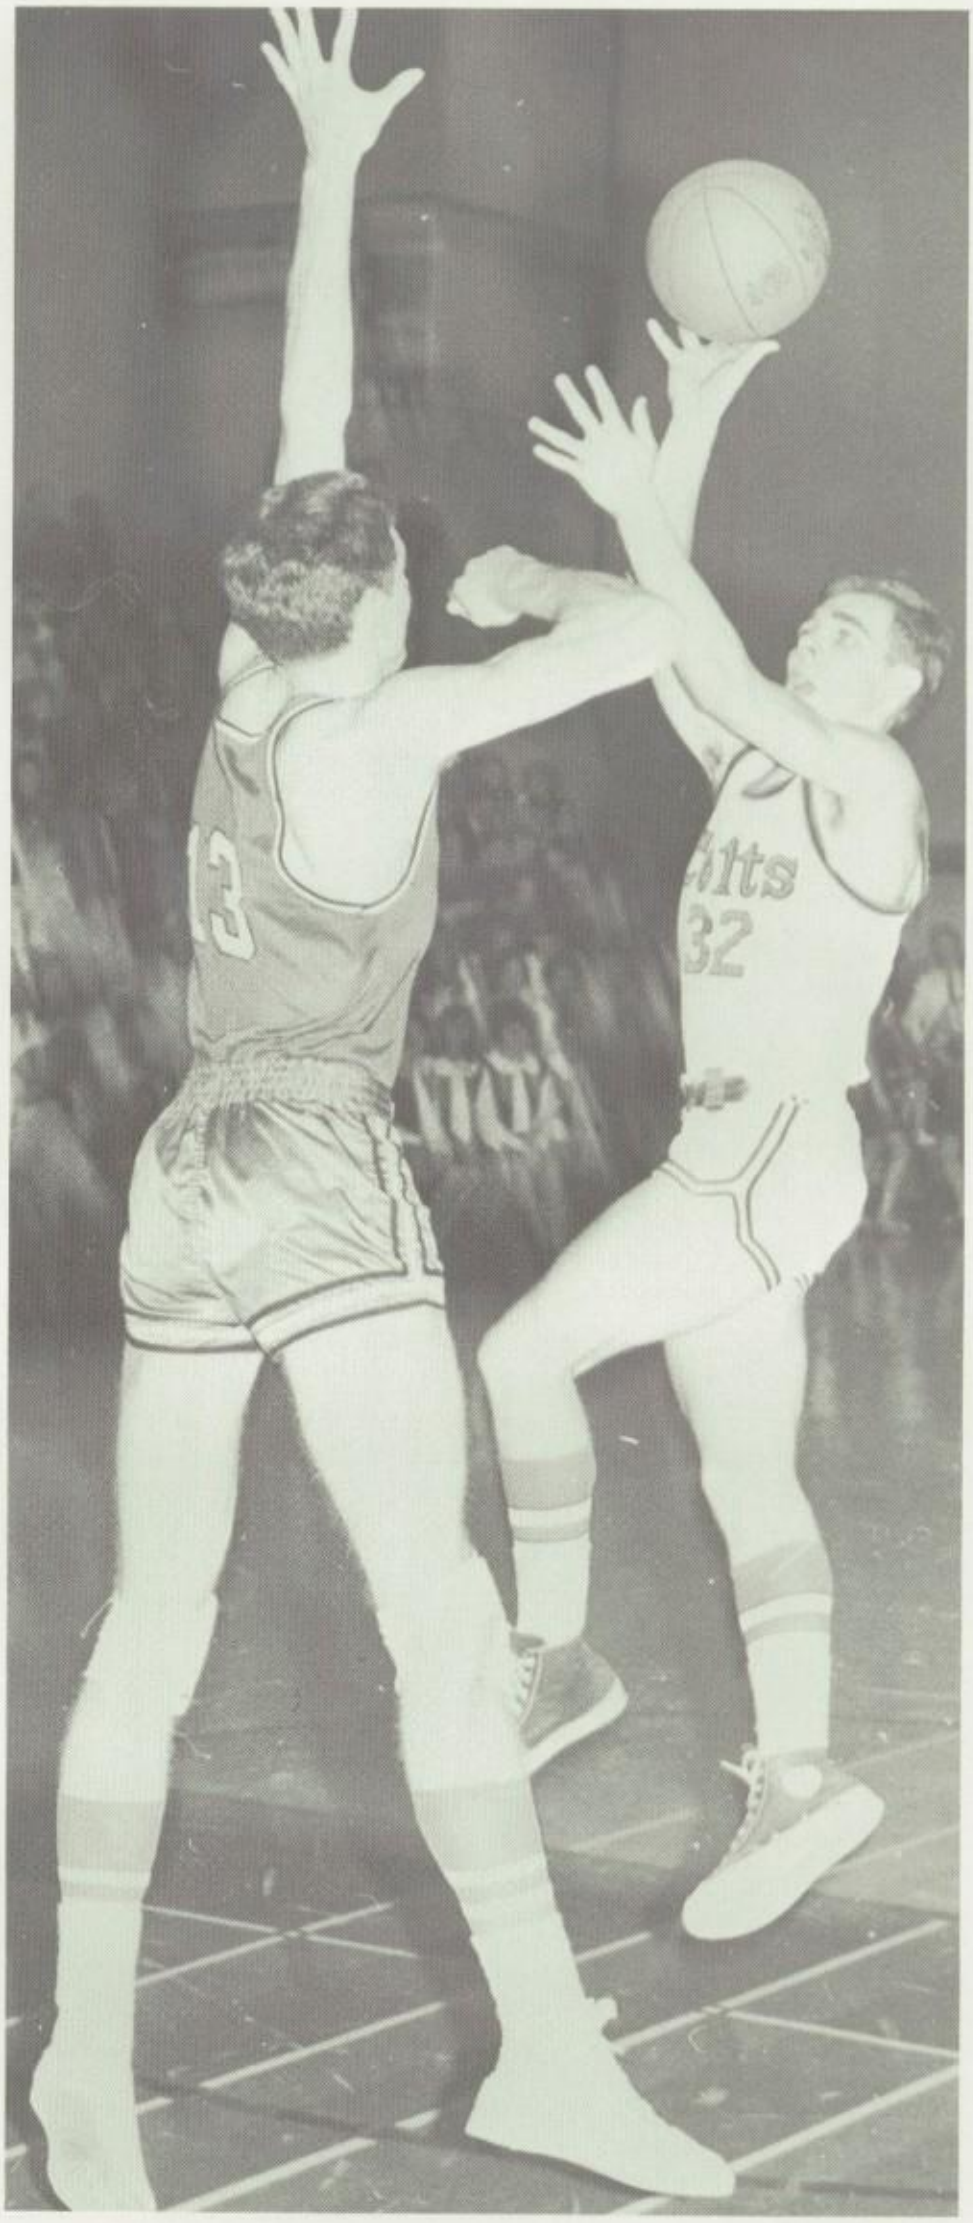
Bob Campbell sinks a long one against Churchill.



Senior guard Dan Allbritton puts up a jumpshot from the top of the key over the outstretched arms of Dan Curtis.

The JV cagers had a fine season finishing with a 14-4 record. The team had balanced scoring and good team effort. This was illustrated by the fact that each one of the starters was high point man for at least one game. Their best game of the season was the home game with Marshfield. After being beaten badly at Marshfield, the cagers came back to beat the Pirates by more than 20 points.

The Colt JV's finished strong with eight straight victories and ended the season with a win over Springfield.

The Sophomore team started the season with victories in the first four games.

The high scorers were Stewart Corriea, Dan Haxbey, and Greg Olaen. The high rebounder was Mike Vaughn.

Gymnastics

Gymnasts Take Sixth

The Colt's gymnastic team showed great improvement over last year. They were led by Ken Platt and Ed Barnhurst in all-round and rings respectively. Ken Platt, scoring 176 points, was chosen the most outstanding gymnast. Ed Barnhurst placed second scoring 99 points. The team improved from a poor 1-8 record last year to a very respectable 4-5 record this year.

The team also finished sixth in the Southern District meet, which includes all schools south of Salem. The Sheldon meet was probably the most exciting meet, with the Colts losing by one point, 116-115. Coach Lockwood is looking forward to next year as he has a strong team returning.

Ken Platt and Ed Barnhurst demonstrate their ability that made them the top gymnasts.

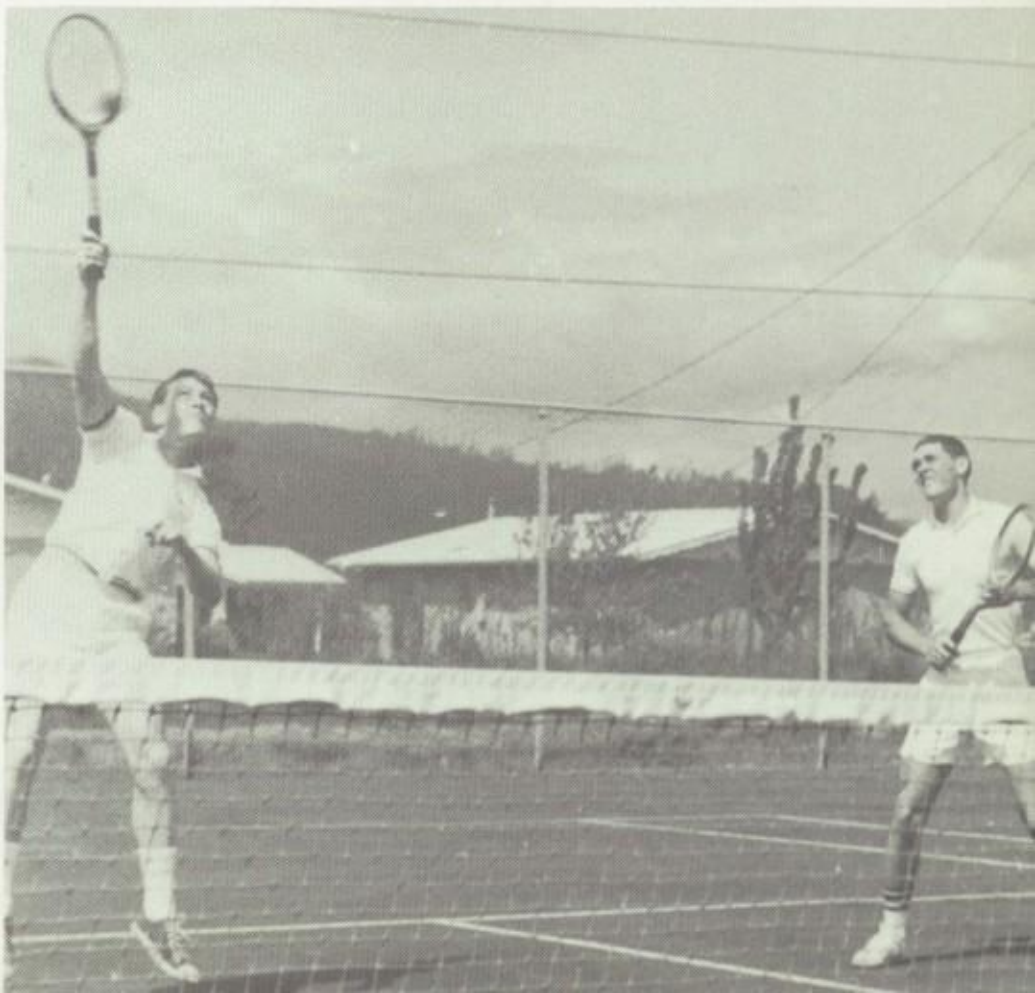
Tennis

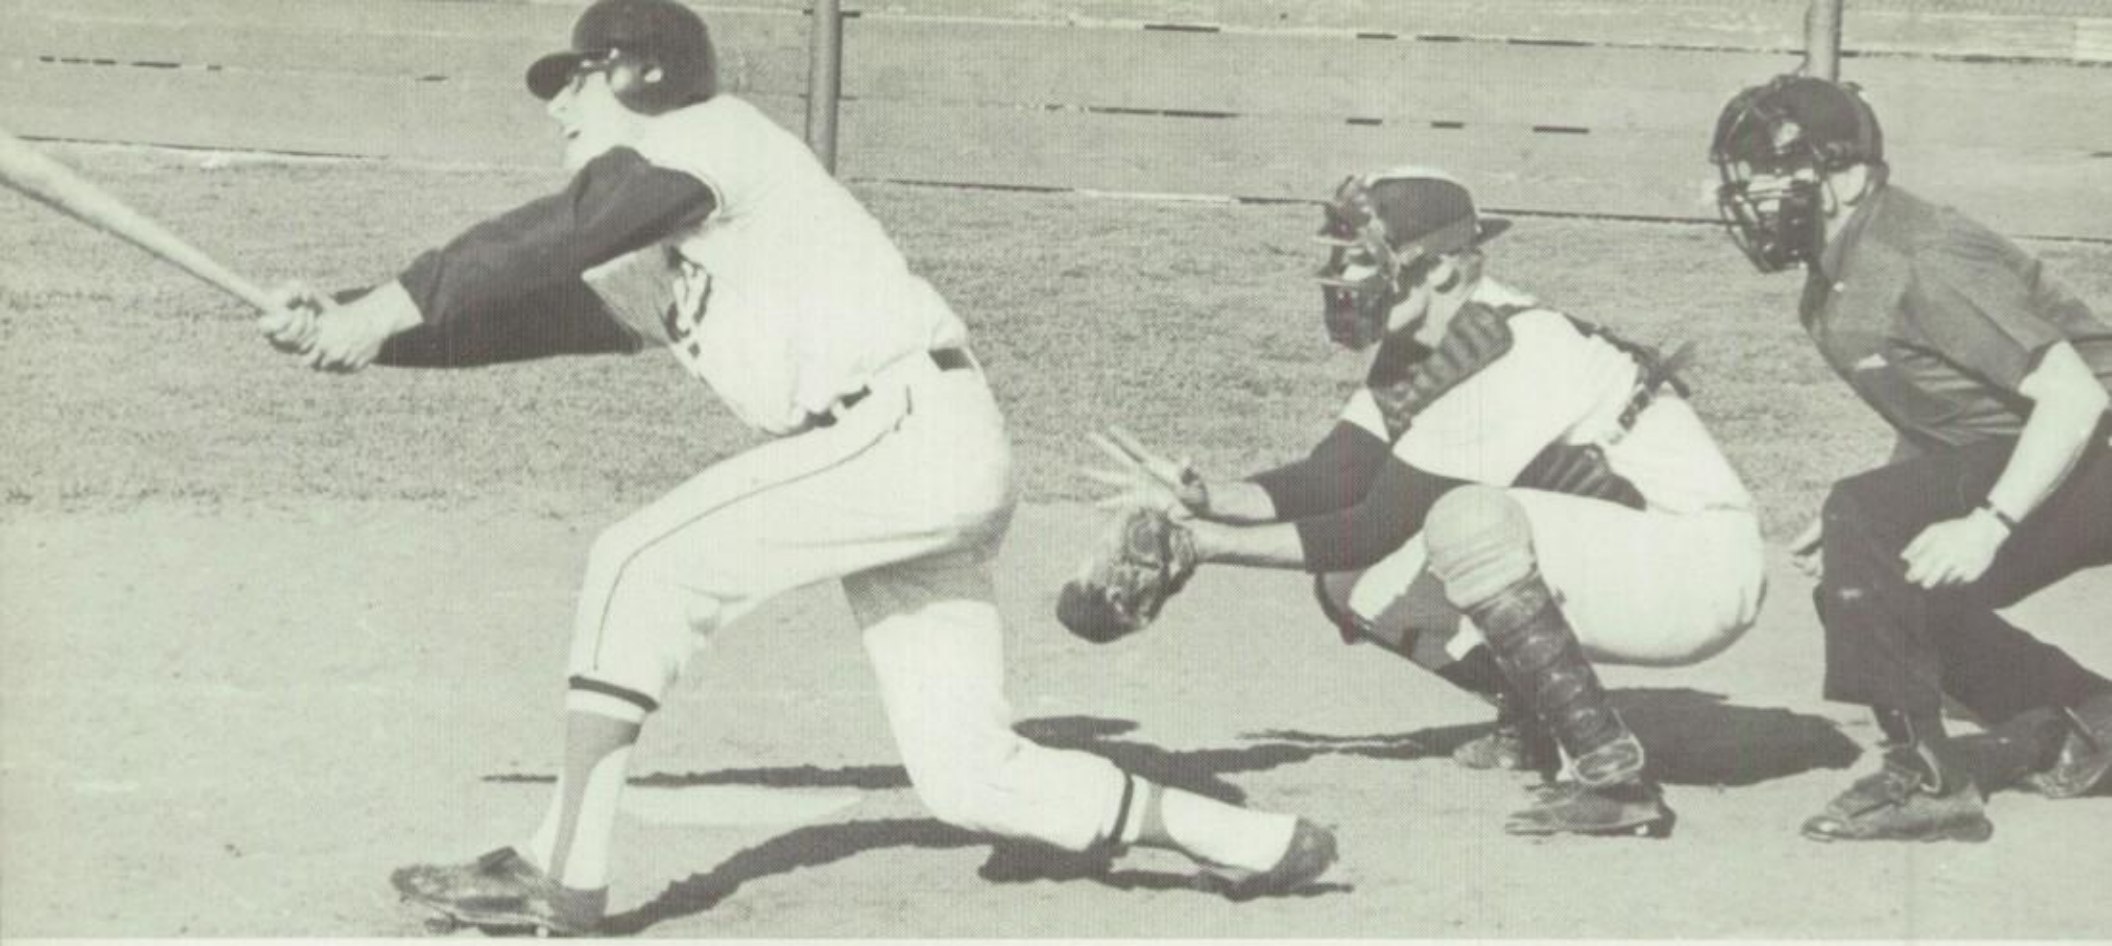
Netters Play Hard

This year's tennis team did not have one of it's better seasons, losing 15 and winning 0. They were an able team although, with three lettermen and a number of first year men. The team had good spirit and should have plenty of experience for next year.

They were led by senior Steve Keller who is a three year letterman, and one of the team members to win more than one match.

Steve and Larry Keller compete in doubles match during a tennis match.





Outstanding player Joe Palanuk displays the form that made him the number two hitter on the team.

Senior hurler Al Rhinehart moves in on pop fly.

Baseball

Two Make District

The baseball team finished in 4th place with a 8-6 win-loss record.

They were led in batting by All-District outfielder Bob Scroggins, hitting .333. All-Distirct infielder Joe Palanuk also led with a hitting record of .327 and with the best E.R.A. .900. Joe led with the most runs scored at 14 and most innings pitched at 70.

Bob Scroggins was hot on the bases with 21 stolen bases.

Al Rinehart lead with the most wins by pitcher with 6 and most strike-outs with 66.

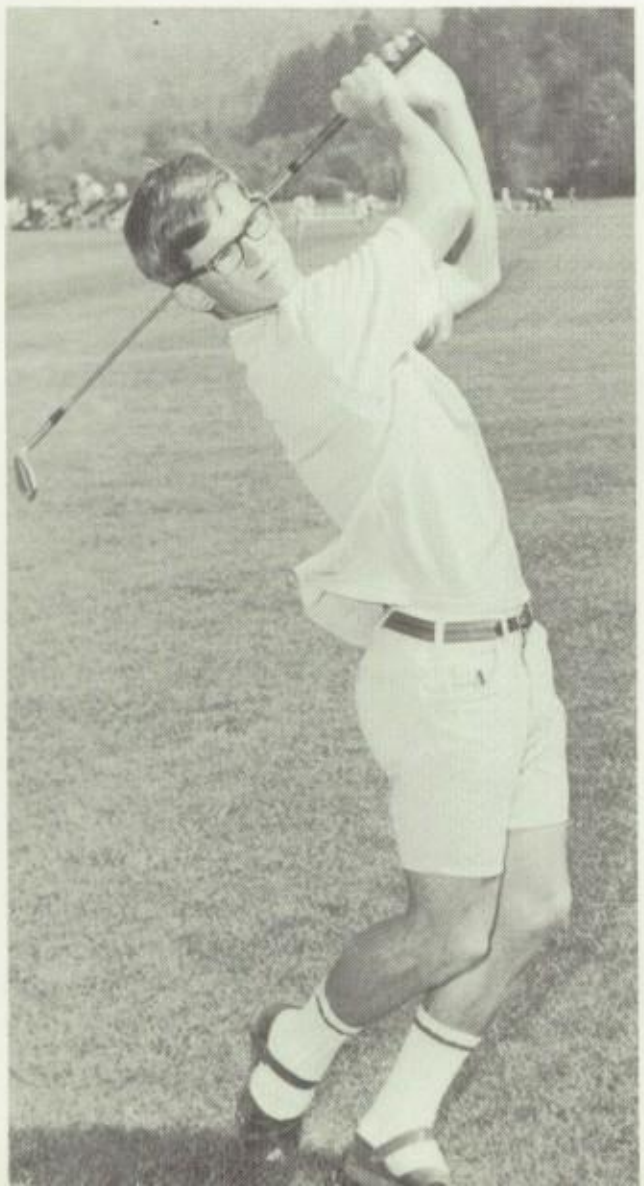
Senior Rick Wilson was team captain this year.



Golf

Golfers Much Improved

This year's golf team was the biggest and best ever at Thurston. They beat every team in the 15-team district once, except Marshfield who beat the Colts by four strokes. The season record was 26 wins and 9 losses capped by a third place finish in the district meet.

Senior Rick Wilson was team captain and number one man on the team. Junior Bill Phillips was second and Scott Arnold finished third and was considered the most consistent.

There were only two juniors on the team, and coach Fisk is hopeful of a good team for next year.

Track

Six Qualify for State

The Colt track team had a very successful year, losing only two of their dual meets. They finished second in the Bend Invitational meet with 115¼ points. They were headed only by Ashland who had 121 points to win the meet. Other top team performances came in the North meet, when the Colts lost by only 4 points to the District champs.

Six team members qualified for the State meet in Corvallis. Ed Barnhurst qualified in the discus, Al Bean in the shot with a put of 54'1½'', Rick Patrick in the pole vault with a vault of 13'3½''. Doug Sisk in the 100-yard dash in a time of 10.2, Mike Bedortha in the 880 with a time of 1:57.9, and junior John Svoboda in the mile with a clocking of 4:25.7.

Many sports are offered for girls who were interested in competition and enjoyment.

In the fall there was field hockey, cross country, and archery to choose from. The hockey team played a total of 12 games and three of these were sports days with many teams participating. They finished very well winning most of their games. The cross country girls were in three meets and then attended the state meet. A sports day was held in archery to fill their busy schedule.

During the winter gymnastics, volleyball, and basketball provided exciting experiences for many girls. Gymnastics covered nine meets; this included seven regular meets. The remaining meets were district and state. Volleyball consisted of four games in competition. Basketball season included a sports day plus three games.

Track and softball completed the spring sports. Track covered four scheduled meets and three in final competition. The three final meets were sub-district, district, and state. In softball they had one sports day which involved many thrilling moments.

Thurston provided a drill and dance group for entertainment during the football and basketball seasons. They also performed for pep assemblies, marched in the Springfield Christmas and the Portland Rose Parades, and participated in many civic functions, which included entertaining the Moose Lodge members. The members attended a summer clinic in which they shared and received ideas for routines.

Above and Beyond the Call of Duty

Under the expert advisorship of Miss Lang, the Thurston High Usherettes main duties included serving at Sports and Honor Society banquets. Besides these banquets, they ushered at the Lions Convention, Springfield Broiler Festival, and various church functions. They were on hand during basketball and football games to pass out progams and ushered at school plays, concerts, graduation, and Baccalaureate. The active members must do at least five usher activities to remain a member of this club. Those fulfilling their duties attended a dinner held at the end of the year in their honor.

Prior to handing our programs, Usherettes give support at one of Thurston's home basketball games.

Club Honors Achievement

The National Honor Society achieved status in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Student members had to have an accumulative grade point average of a 3.00 or higher.

This year for the first time six sophomores were chosen as temporary Honor Society members. They will be inducted into the membership when they are juniors. This will enable them to participate in all Honor Society funtions.

The speaker this year was Mr. George Zellick, Deputy Superintendent of school District 19, who inspired the students with his speech on the challenge, responsibility, and future of today's young people.

Leadership, service and character were active traits of the Honor Society members this year. They sold candy, sponsored the Honor Society breakfast, and acted as host to members from other schools during District meetings.

Music

The classes in the Vocal music department were Advanced Chorus, Girls Glee and Mixed Chorus of which each were involved in community activities.

Also included in the music program was a extra curricular group, The Thurston Folksingers, who sang for various functions throughout the year. Their singing went along with the old folklore and well known Broadway hits. They performed at: the Springfield Masonic Hall, the Springfield Rotary Club, the Springfield Kiwanis Club, the Eugene Elks, the Alpine Village. They also performed for the school's Sports Banquet, the Spaghetti Dinner, the Christmas Assembly and the Spring Concert. The students in the Folksinging group were selected on the basis of their ability to read and sing music well.

Mr. Savage goes over a piece of music with girls from his Mixed Chorus class.

ACADEMICS

Department Head: Mr. Darl Hunt teaches Sophomore English as well as Business English. He is also in charge of the Resource Center.

Mrs. Wilrose Brinton teaches Senior English A and Mythology.

English

New Courses Added

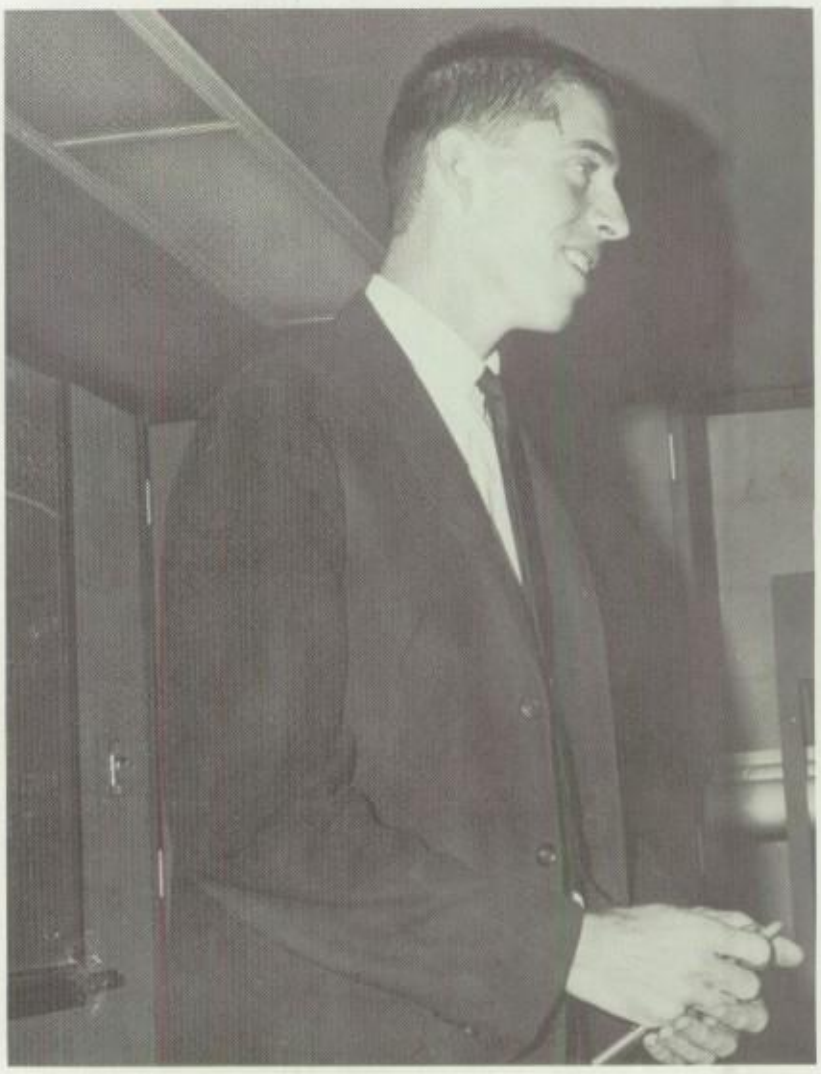
Communication plays an important part in human relations. For this reason each student was required to to study English each year in high school.

This year the department added something new. Besides regular A and B English, Communication and Seminar classes were offered. Communication was primarily used to help students with special problems. Seminar students were advanced and operated in a self directed way.

In addition to these two new courses, the department offered other electives to further student understanding of English. They consisted of Business English, World Literature, Reading, Advanced Composition, Mythology, and Short Stories.

Also for the first time this year the English department had a resource center. Special sets of paperback books were stored in room 82. These books were an asset to teachers in further understanding of English.

Mr. Phil Lockwood teaches Senior English and Sophomore English B.

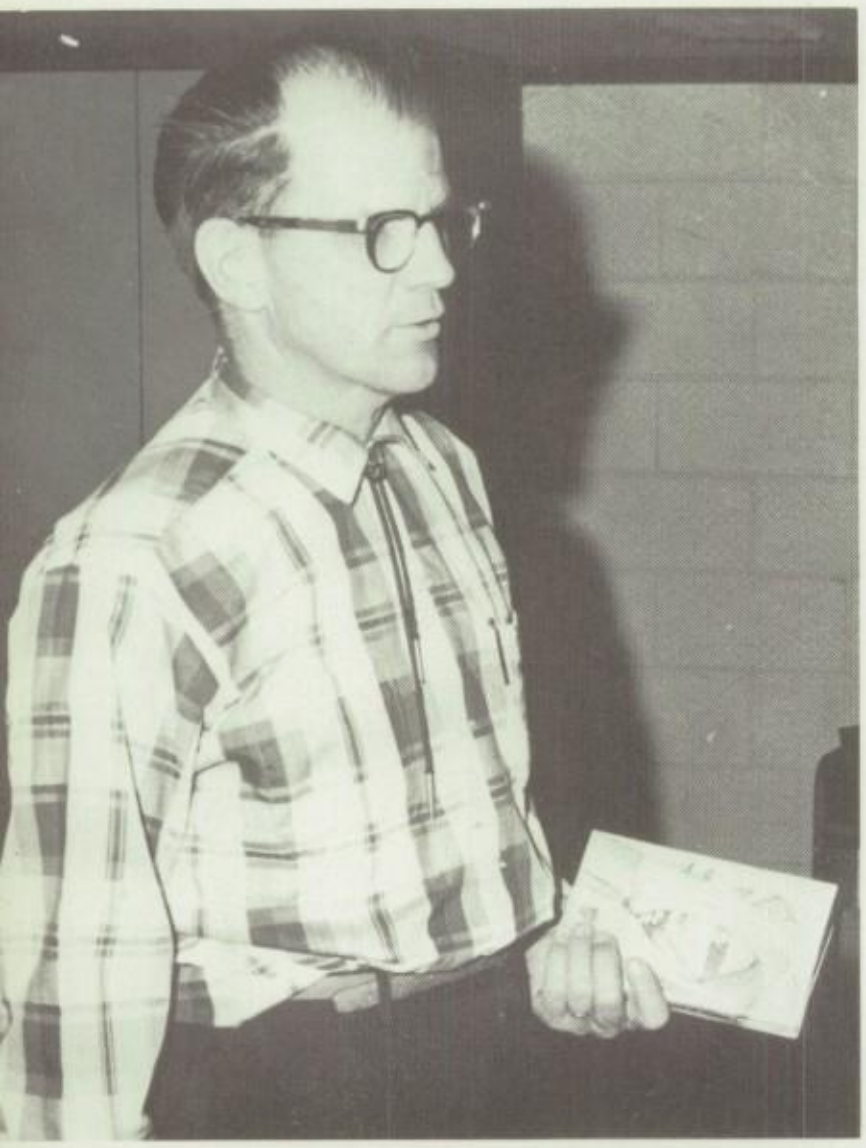


Mrs. Virginia Cunningham prepares to show film strips to her reading class. She also teaches Senior English B.

Mrs. Pat Devries helps Dale Barrett and Anna Lind. Her classes include Sophomore English B.

Mr. C. John Anderson, with the use of the articutation board, helps students in Speech I and II.

Mr. Wayne Shantz leads Seminar discussion. He also teaches Junior English A and Sophomore English B.



Mr. Milton Cunningham teaches Junior English B. and World Literature.

Mr. Ross Buckridge lectures to his Sophomore English B class. He also teaches Short Stories.

Mrs. Trudy Kutz is shown helping a student. She teaches Senior English B and English Composition.

Mr. John Anderson and students are shown articulating at the mirrors. Speech is divided into two parts. Speech II, which is a forensics team, enters tournaments and deals with public speaking. Speech I is to prepare for public speaking.

Mr. Ludwig Wedemeyer dictates to his German class.

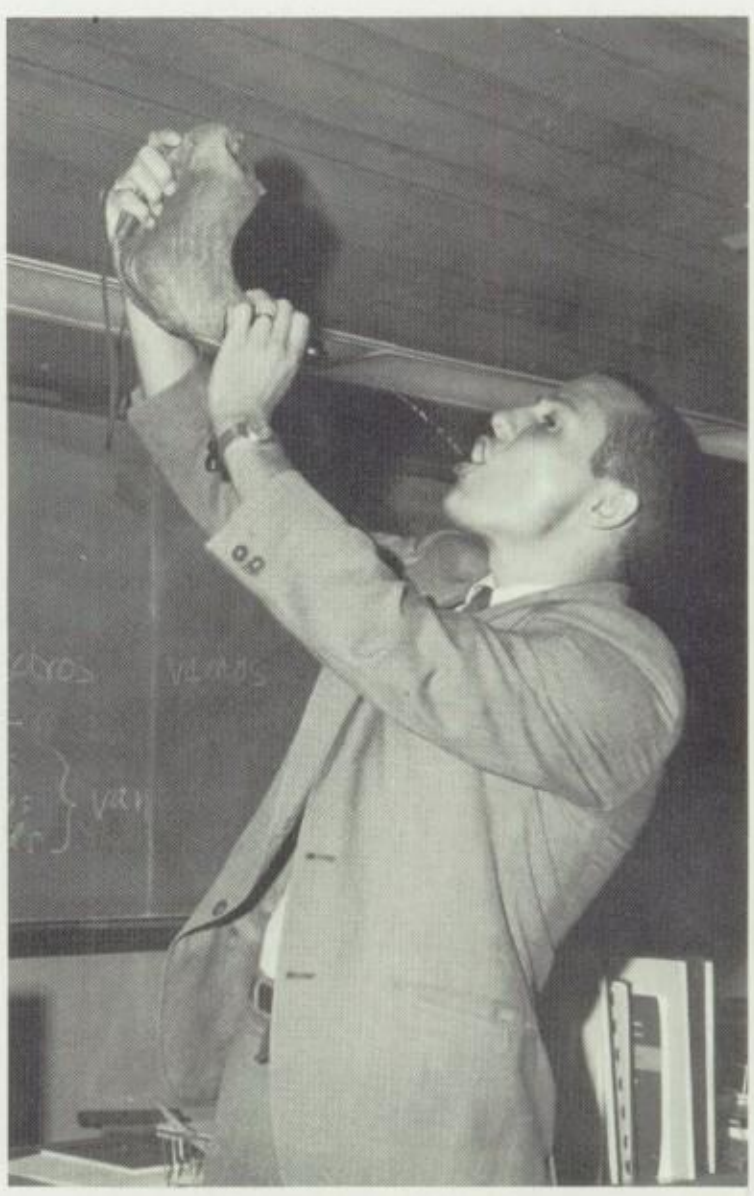
Foreign Languages

Traditions Follow Through in Foreign Languages

Three foreign languages were offered at Thurston. They were German, Spanish and French. These classes were offered from levels I to V. During the first year students not only studied the structure of the language but also concentrated on the culture of the country. Through the five levels the four basic skills of speaking, writing, understanding and reading continually progress. Teachers encouraged more envolvement with the country than ever before. The students not only observed the country but also participated in the activities of the people. Thurston's facilities provided an efficient language lab to provide the proper techniques of the modern native tongue.

Mrs. Nisha Coulter teaches French and Drama. Drama is offered to students who are interested in the practical aspects of acting. Emphasis is based on interpretation of plays and learning of various achievements in acting.

Mr. William Kinkle is illustrating to the class how to drink from a Bota. He teaches Spanish.



Department Head: Mr. Bob Myers illustrates on the map, how important the world about us is to our future. He teaches Emerging Worlds and World History.

Mr. Gary Fisk, Modern Problems teacher, teaches a new elective course called Economics.

History

Around the World with History

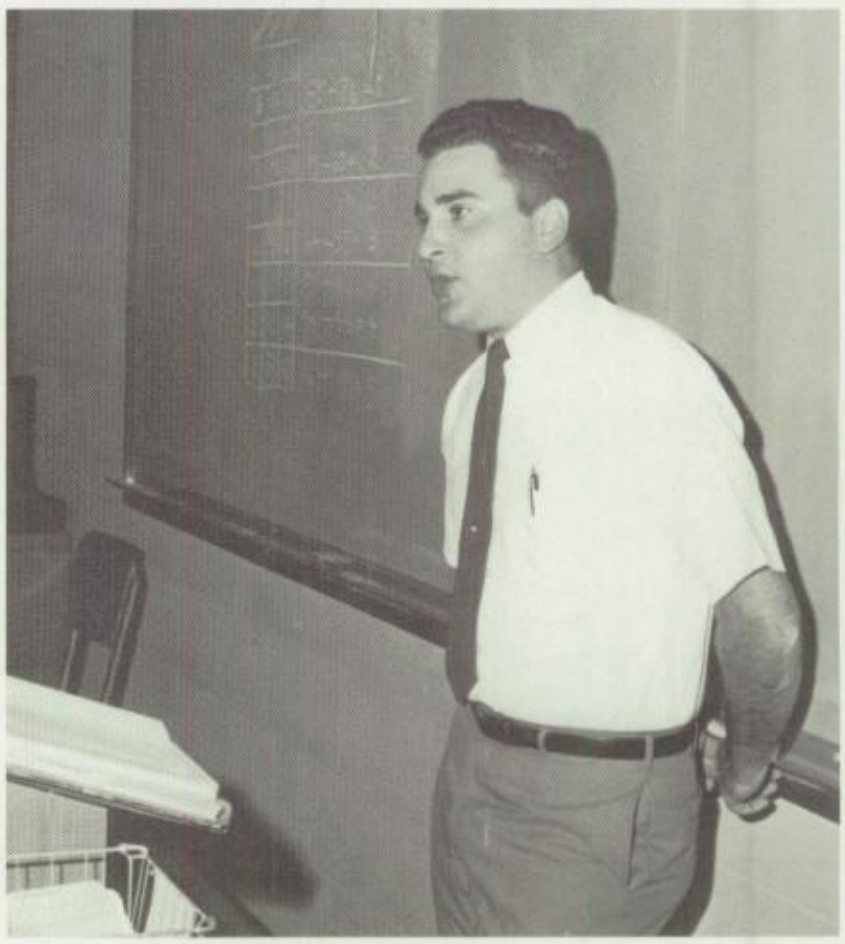
History involves more than just what happened years ago, even the trivial events are important. The events that happened centuries back, or even yesterday are all important in History.

In the History department this year there were four classes offered. Two were electives, and two were required. United States History was the required course for juniors, and dealt with the development of democracy in America. There was also an Honors United States History class which was for more capable juniors. Modern Problems was the required course for seniors. This class was for analyzing, discussing and suggesting solutions for for the problems of the United States.

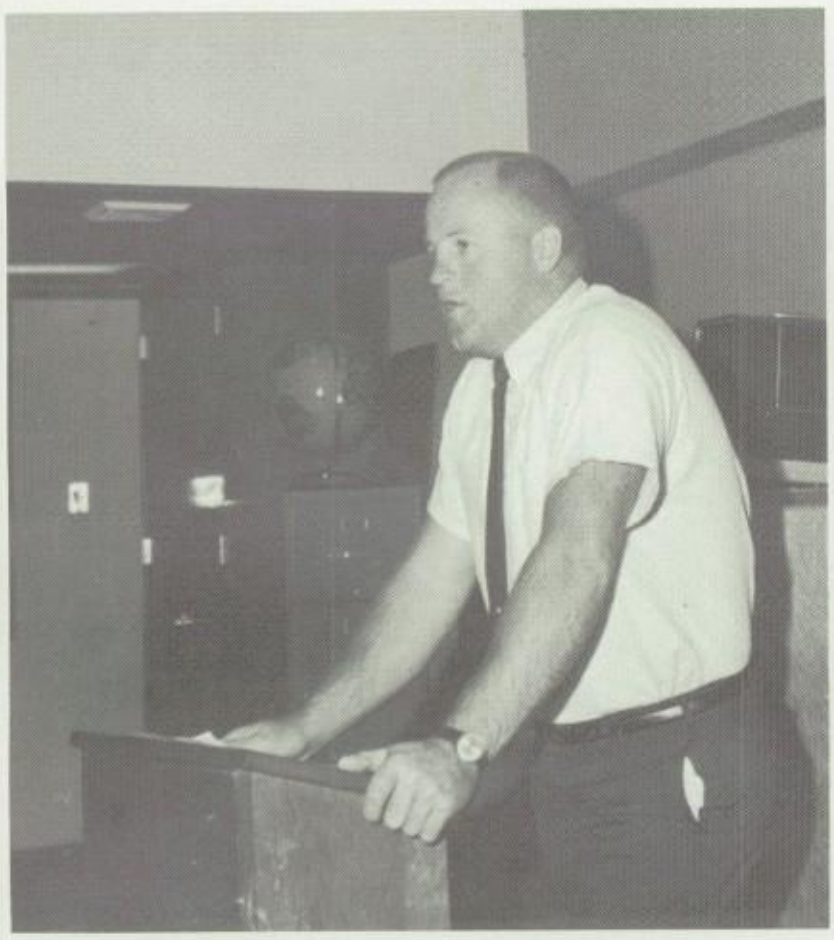
Two new semester classes have been added to take the place of Modern Problems. During the first semester, the student studied Sociology, while during the second semester he studied Economics.

The two electives in the History department were World History and Emerging Worlds. World History was primarily based on western civilization's beginning and growth. Emerging Worlds dealt with eastern civilization and the new independent nations.

Mr. Dennis Amato gives a lecture on World Problems. He teaches Modern Problems and World History.

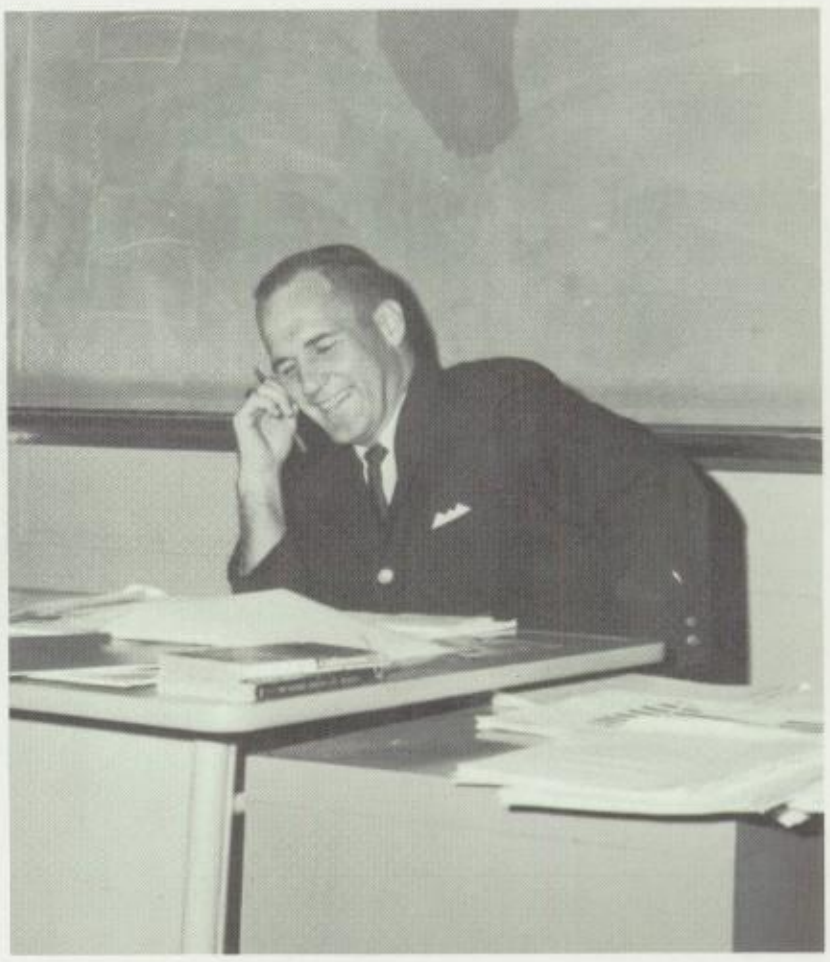


Mrs. Katie Honerlah points out political cartoons. She teaches Honor History and U. S. History.



Mr. Reanus Cochran explains how our government is operated. He teaches U.S. History.

Mr. Lynn Peterson's classes include U.S. History and English.

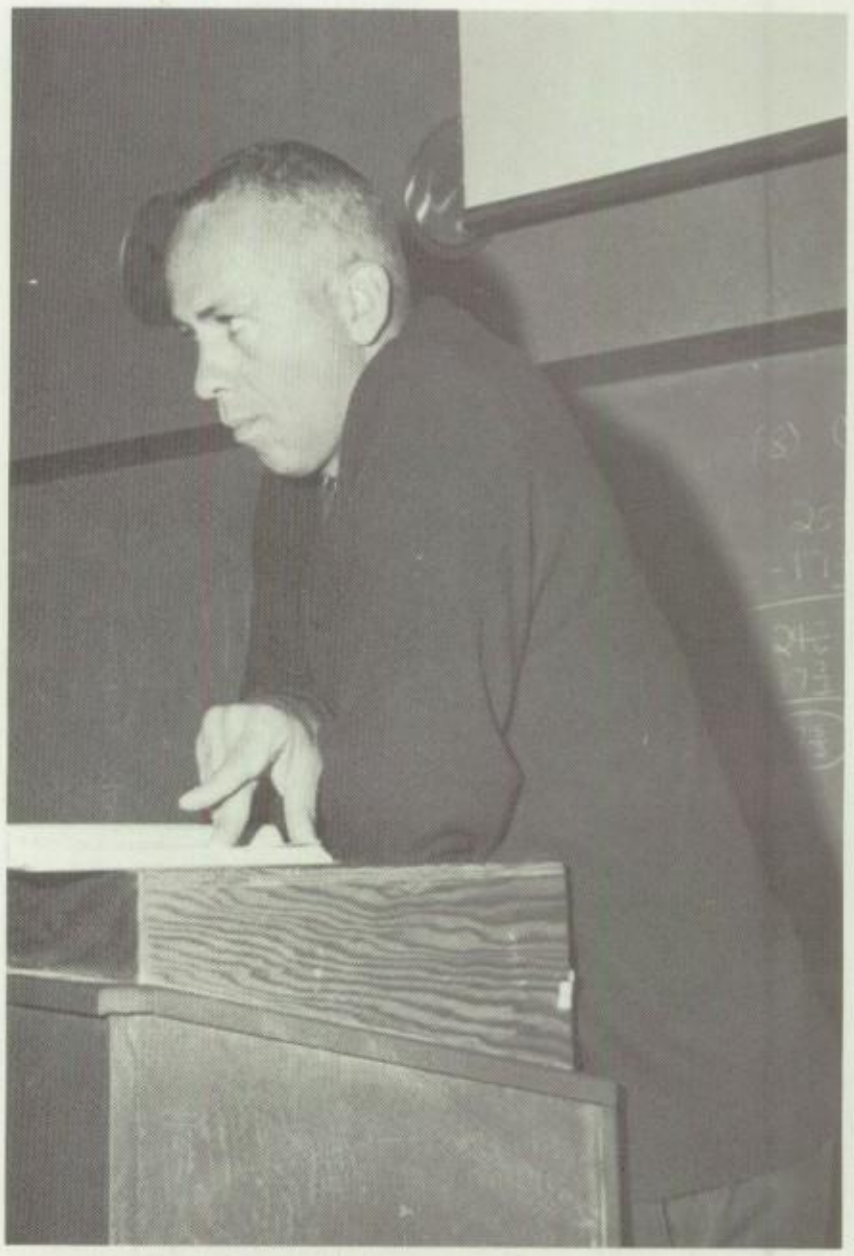


Math

Math Teaches the Mystery of Numbers

Thurston has many courses in Math to fit each individual need. The courses are created for more thorough understanding from basic mathematics to abstract reasoning. Basic Mathematics was designed to develop the student's knowledge of General Mathematics. Practical Mathematics was the course that concentrated in using the application of everyday problems.

Algebra I and II covered advanced topics in numbers and acted as a background for scientific courses. Advanced Math I and II were for more able students. They attempted to understand Modern Technology which made use of more diversified mathematics. Consumer Math consisted of a study of the fundamental arithmetic and the application of everyday living. Functional Math was a class designed to aid the students who wanted help before entering Geometry of Algebra or those students who just wanted to review math.



Department Head: Mr. Gus Renwick instructs classes in Algebra I, Advanced and Functional Math.

Mr. James Stuckey is shown with Algebra II, student. He also teaches Algebra I and Advanced Math.

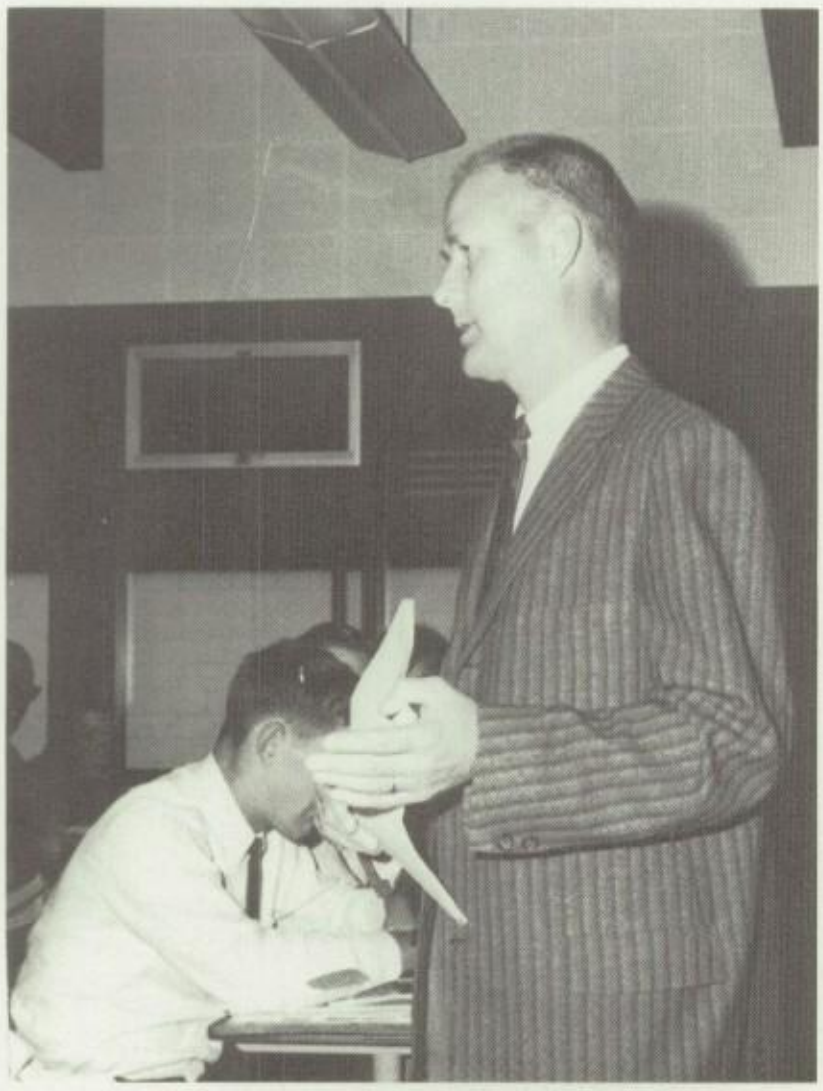
Mr. Ralph Hochendonier uses a compass to draw the dimension of a circle. He instructs Geometry, Functional, and Basic Math.



Department Head: Mr. George Carlson is instructing one of his classes in Chemistry A and B.

Mr. Kim Bradshaw is talking about hi

Science

Chemistry Explodes Into Action

Science offers Biology I and II, Chemistry A and B, Physics, and Physical Science. Biology I was required for all sophomores. Biology I enabled students to use laboratory knowledge about living systems.

Chemistry A and B were open to all students who met the requirements. It dealt with chemical makeup of materials, and the changes they undergo. Biology II was an elective open to capable students. The course was based on scientific methods and attitudes. Physics was also an elective. It was the study of present-day concepts of energy and the physical changes that matter undergoes.

Physical Science dealt with laboratory science. The course was designed to give students an understanding of the methods of science.

Mr. William Ebert is showing some yeast cultures to his Biology I class.

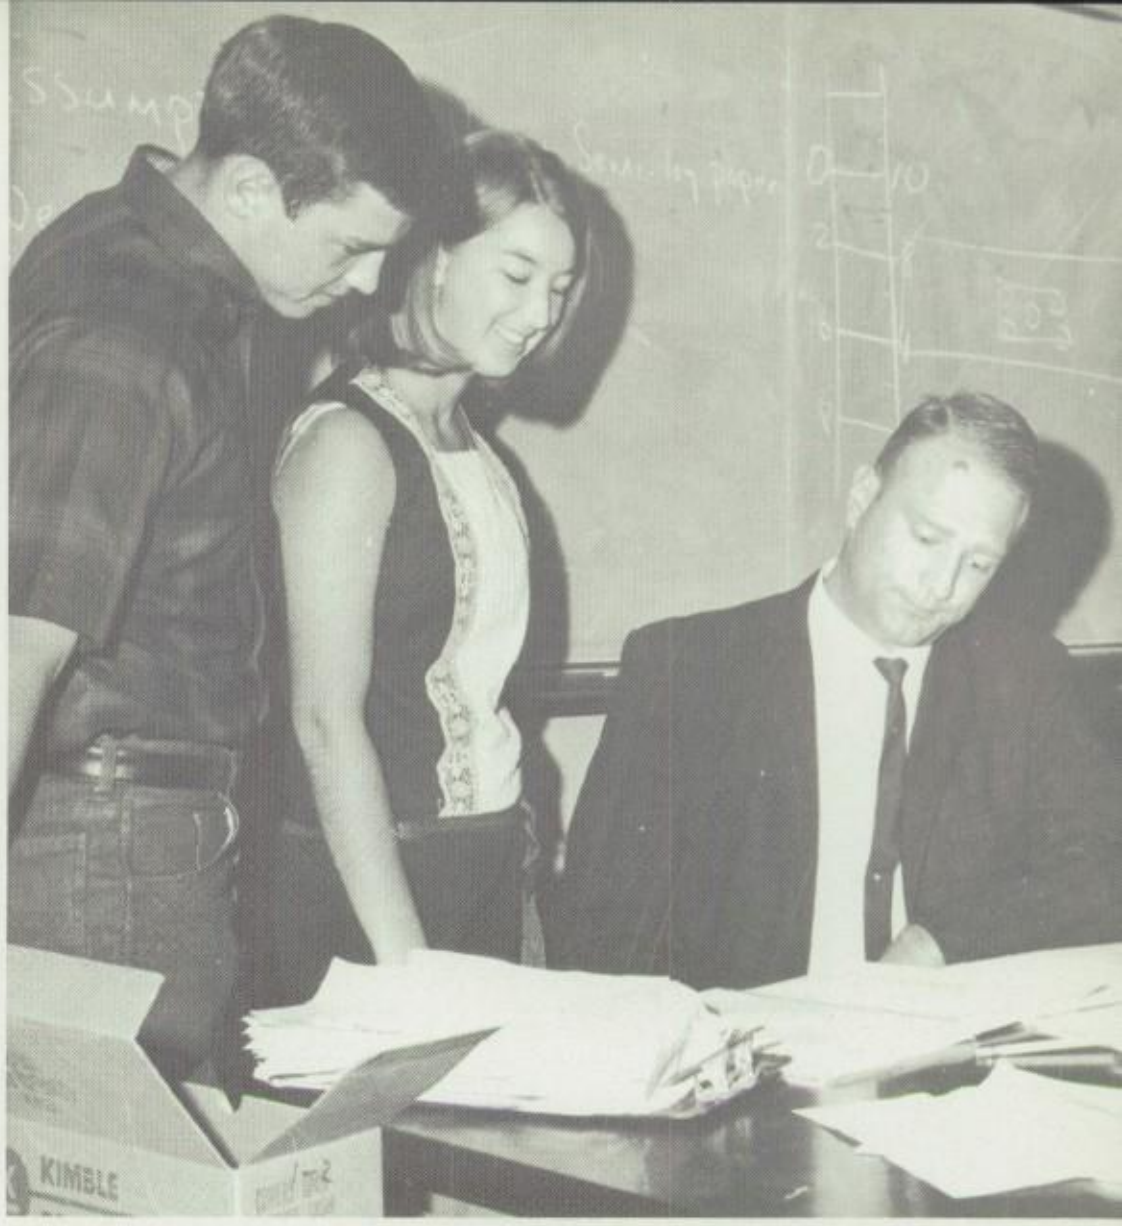
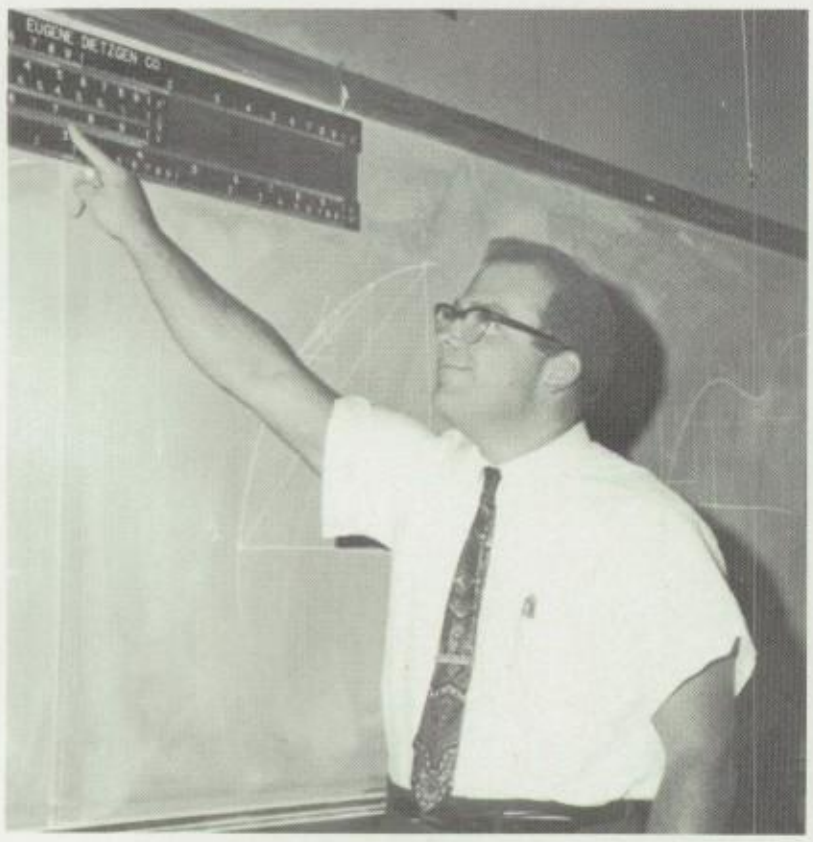
white rats in his Biology I class.



Mr. Bob Wesley points out to students a problem in Biology I.

Mr. Dave Stark instructs Physic and Math classes. He instructs the use of a slide rule.



Mr. Tom Wareham explains to a curious student the structure of a horney toad in Biology I and II.

Department Head: Mr. Jerry Lake times the sophomore boys in the 50 yard dash. He instructs sophomore boys in Physical Fitness.

Mrs. Kathy Gray demonstrates the skills of hockey. She teaches P.E. to the sophomore girls.

Physical Education

Students Are Revitalized by Physical Fitness Program

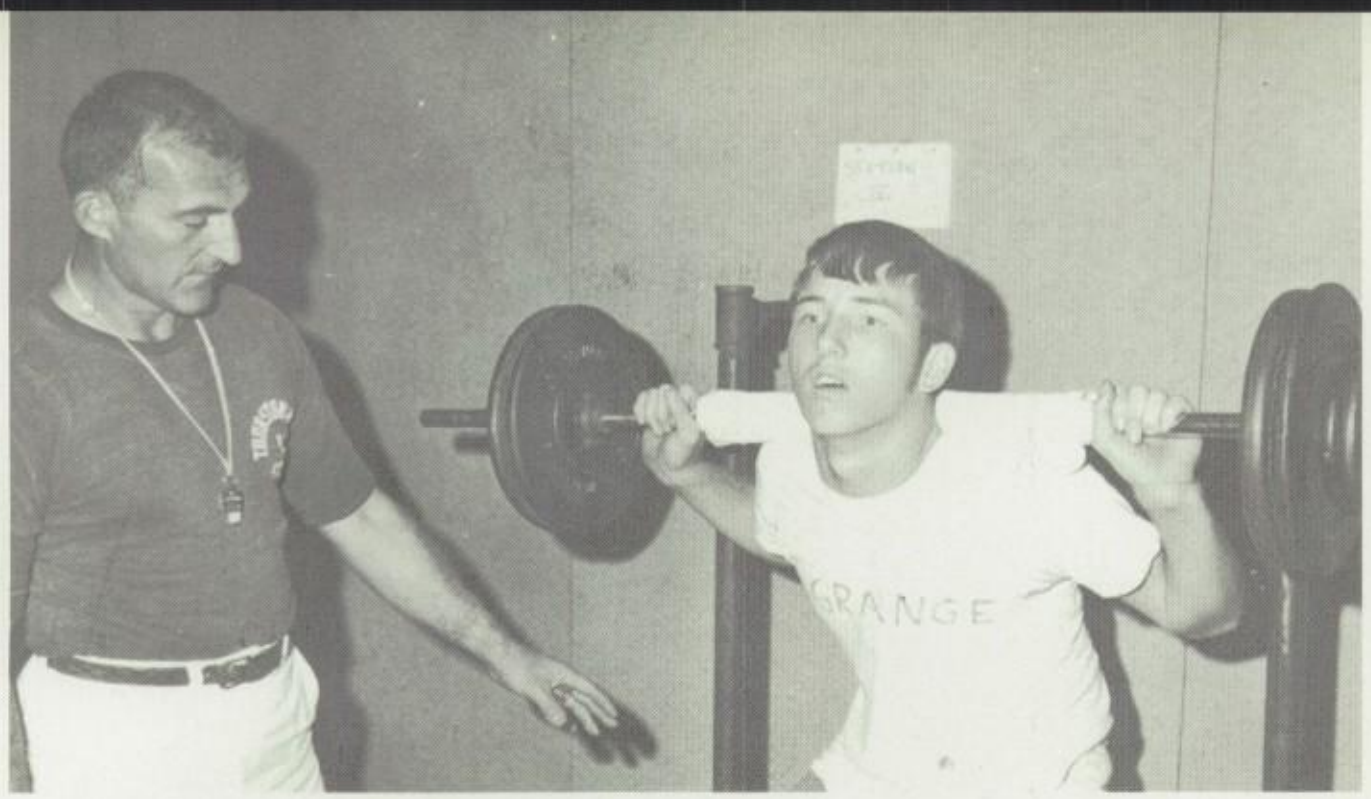
The objective of the physical education program was to provide an opportunity for the students to improve themselves physically, mentally, and socially by participation in purposeful physical activity. The program was designed to aid students in learning to use their bodies skillfully in work and play.

P.E. for sophomores stressed body training coordinated sports and first aid.

Juniors were taught sports that were recreational and could be enjoyed throughout their lives.

Seniors took P.E. as an elective. Their program dealt with team sports, individual sports performance, and recreational leadership.

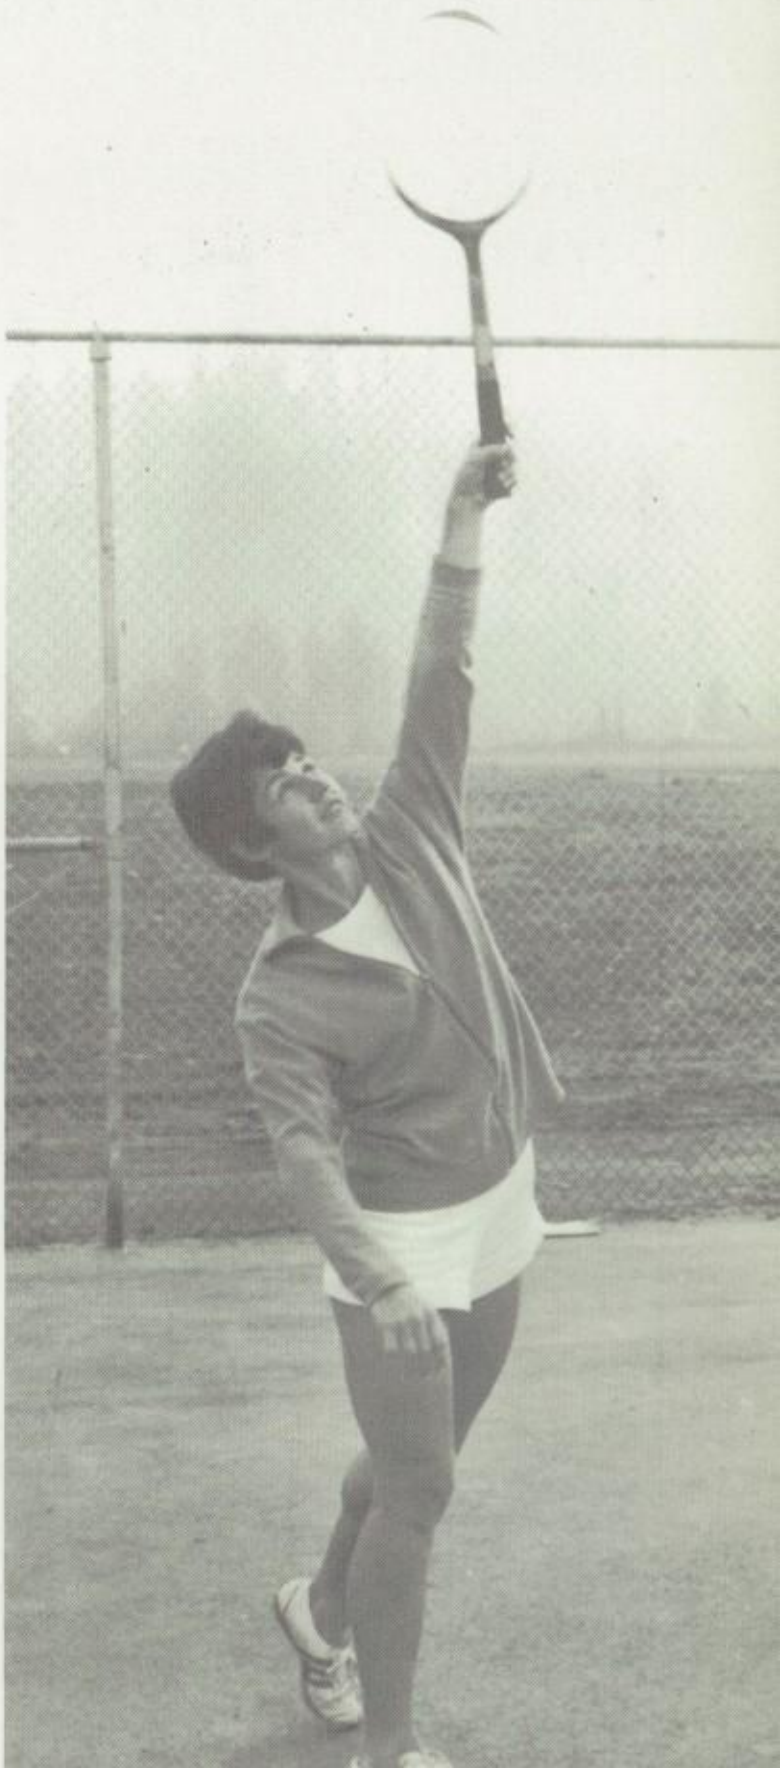
Mrs. Sheralind Hass instructs one of her students in the art of weight lifting. She teaches sophomore and junior girl's P.E.

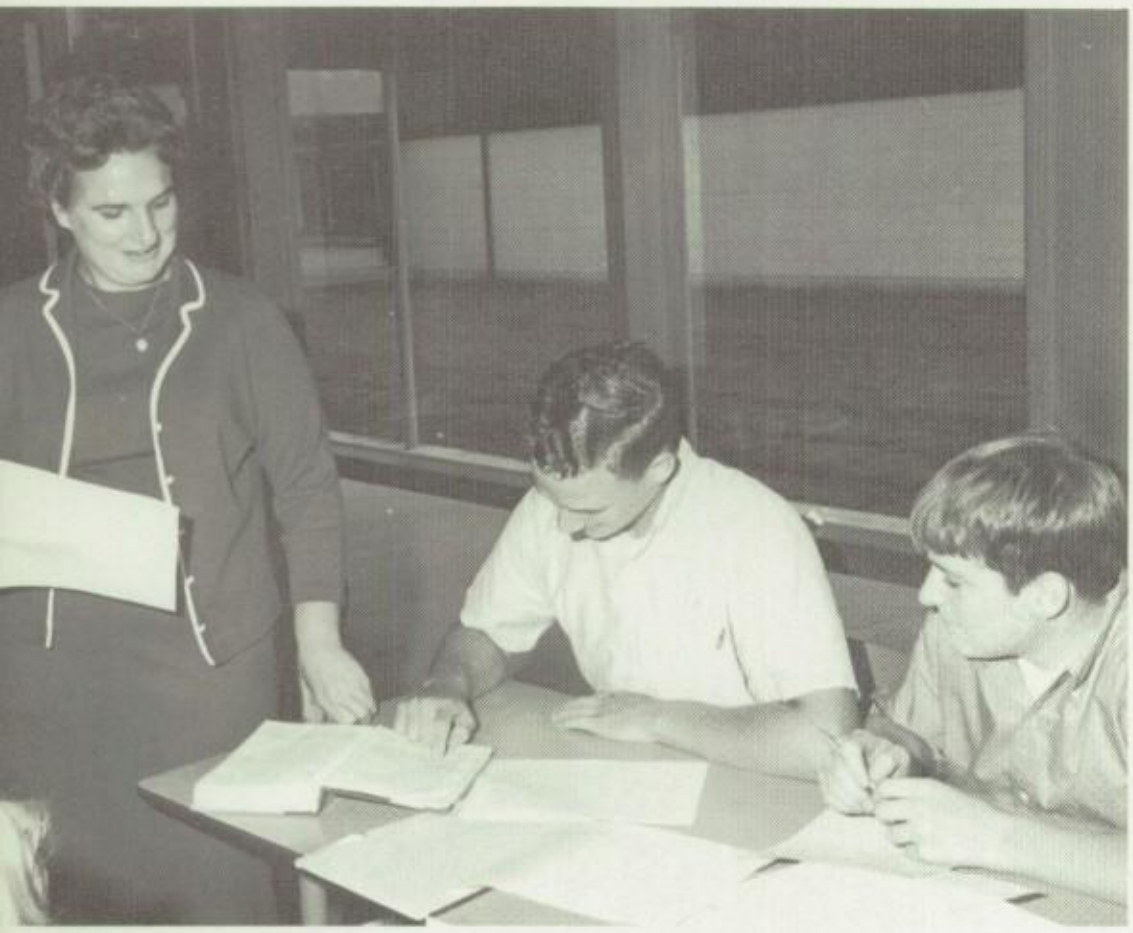


Mr. Ray Chiapuzio instructs a student in weight lifting. His classes include sophomore and junior boys.

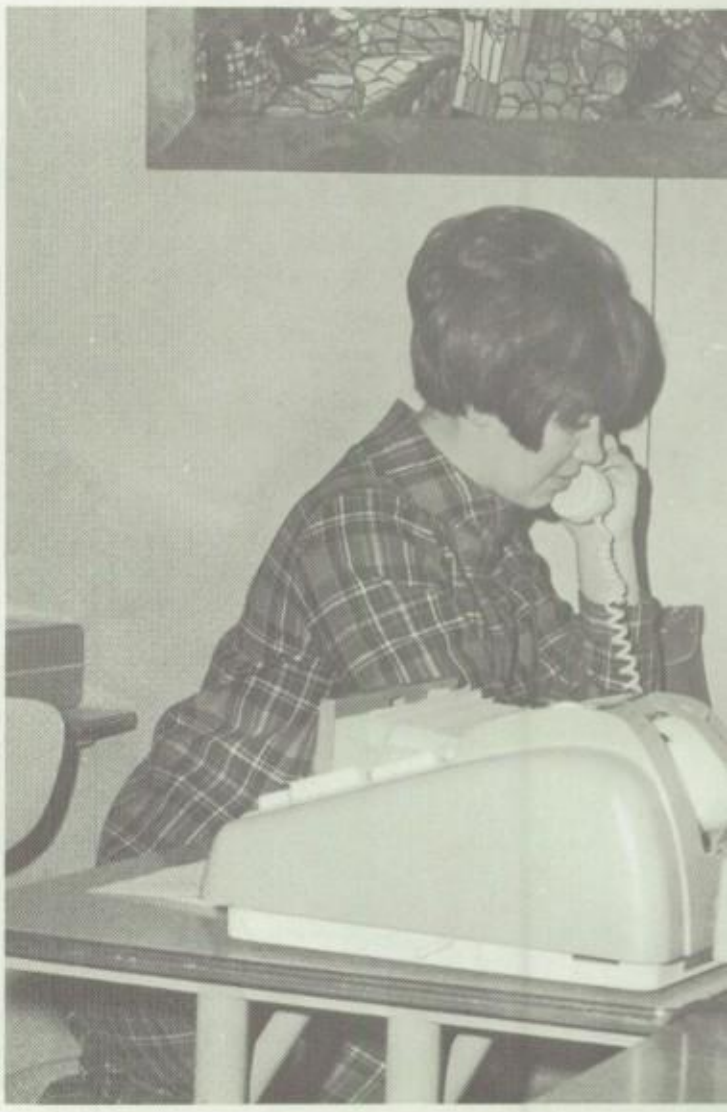
Mr. Ron Creps shows the fundamentals of kicking a football. He teaches sophomore and senior boys.

Department Head: Mrs. Ann Laptad demonstrates the technique of serving to her junior and senior girls.





Department Head: Mrs. Ester Lang is demonstrating to her students the techniques of Bookkeeping. Her other classes are Shorthand and Accounting.



Business Department

Electives Add More Opportunity

Typing I taught the basic fundamentals of typing for personal use or served as the basis for a business career. Typing II was to give the students a review of Typing I and determined placement into Advanced Typing. Advanced Typing was precisely a vocational course. The purpose of Advanced Typing was to expand on the basis learned in former typing classes and to give the student a knowledge of all types of office papers and procedures.

In Shorthand the theory for the Gregg Shorthand writing was taught. Students learned to write and read words in Shorthand. Later in the year students worked on skills to develop dictation speed and transcribe dictation accurately. Shorthand II was an extension to further develop the knowlege that they were taught in Shorthand I.

Bookkeeping was an elective course teaching the accounting cycle. The course began with small businesses and continued through records and credit basis for larger companies.

Secretarial practice is an extension of the skills learned in business and other clerical courses.

Mr. Ken Van Wagner is instructing a student in Typing I. He also teaches Typing II.

Christie Cornell, office girl, relays a telephone message to one of the counselors.

Mrs. Helen Howard helps a student in Advanced Typing. Her classes include Shorthand I and Secretarial Practice.

In Our Business World

What's new in Business Education at Thurston? The newest addition is Data Processing. In this course students learned the history, development and features of the Data Processing equipment. It also taught punch card processing, numbering systems, and programming principles.

Business machines included learning skills of various types of machines. Machines used in this class included adding machines, calculators, dictaphones, mimeograph, ditto, and thermofax.

Business Law informed the student about the common nature of an agreement. It also informed students about law regarding common consent legality and competent parties. Students also studied such forms of contracts as bailments, sales, contracts, negotiable instruments, and common business transactions.

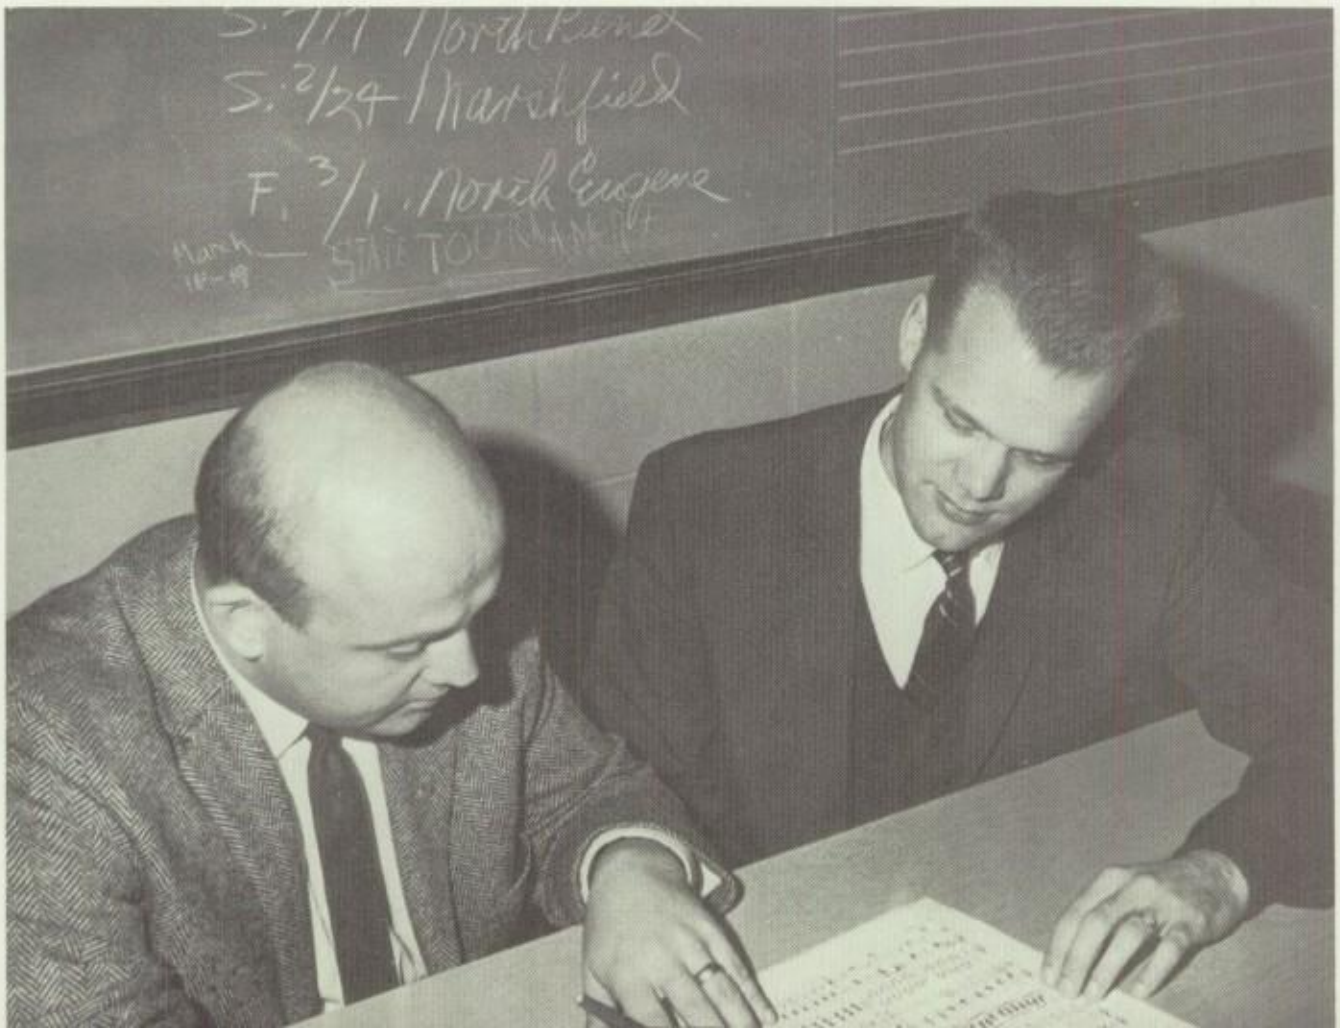
Accounting I was a more advanced bookkeeping course which taught the fundamentals of accounting. This course enables the student to keep books for individuals, a partnership, or a corporation.

Office Practice was a class which gave office experience to high school students. The students were rotated accordingly so that many jobs could be observed.

Mrs. Jean Waters helps a student in Data Processing. She also teaches Business Machines.

Mr. Jim Savage leads his sixth period chorus class in a medley of songs. His classes consists of Girls Glee, Advanced Chorus, and Mixed Chorus.

Department Head: Mr. Bob Boemke and Mr. Larry Beach discuss music for band classes for the team teaching experiment.



Chorus students dance to a Spanish Christmas Carol at the Christmas Assembly.

Music Department

Band Experiences Team Teaching

Band experienced something new called Team Teaching. Mr. Bob Boemke was aided by Mr. Larry Beach in arranging music and conducting classes.

The Training Band put emphasis upon technique and sight reading. This prepared the student for more advanced classes.

The Concert Band was a select group of students who toured the community and performed for various events.

There were two other bands which performed at extra curricular activities. One was a Boy's Pep Band which played at the games and a Marching Band made up of Training Band and Concert Band. The Marching Band performed at various activities and marched in parades.

Service to the school and the community was an important function of the chorus classes. Advanced chorus was basically a performing group. Basis of selection was the ability to sing and read music.

Girls Glee was a singing group consisting of girls from every grade. Emphasis was on the development of the singing ensemble and to develop an appreciation for music.

Mixed chorus was a class which stressed treatment of music fundamentals in reading and voice production.

Miss Shirley Foster is conducting her students at the Christmas Assembly. She teaches Orchestra.

Department Head: Mr. Leonard Rice examines a diseased plant in Horticulture. His other classes consist of Agriculture, Forestry, and Industry.

Industrial Arts

Agriculture and Forestry Stress Conservation

Agriculture Forestry taught the basics of plants, soils, and animal science as it pertained to conservation. Agriculture-Industrial Mechanics class was geared for the mechanical individual who wishes to work with tools. Technical Agriculture emphasizes agriculture management. Included in this was crops and their relation to soils, livestock feeding and marketing, and how to handle taxes.

Horticulture was the production of small fruits and vegetables in gardens or commercial production. Plant propagation and lawn planting were stressed with the use of the greenhouse. Forestry II offered the student many areas in conservation, including: tree identification, surveying, forestry protection, and selection.

Workshop I introduced the student to a general knowlege of the working field. Individual projects were stressed. Workshop II continued with the basics of Workshop I except that several group projects were done. Carpentry went into the methods and materials which are relevant to a carpenter.

Drafting I was a course to give students an introduction to drafting as a universal language of industry and constuction. Architectural and Machine Drafting consisted of study and application of principals of drafting as used in industry and constuction.

Other Manual Skills Developed

Drafting III was a service course. The student acted as an assistant to the instructor and made his own drawings. Architectural and Machine drafting consisted of study and application of principals of drafting as used in industry and construction. Industrial Plastics was a course that consisted of cementing, laminating, vacuum forming, free blowing and jug construction.

General Metals is an exploratory course which provides the student with experience in hand and machine tool operations and a basic understanding of materials. Metals II was similar in content to General Metals, except for the specialization in one or more areas.

Power Mechanics I course was an introduction covering the complete field of power as a prime mover. Students worked to develop, understand, and care for engines.

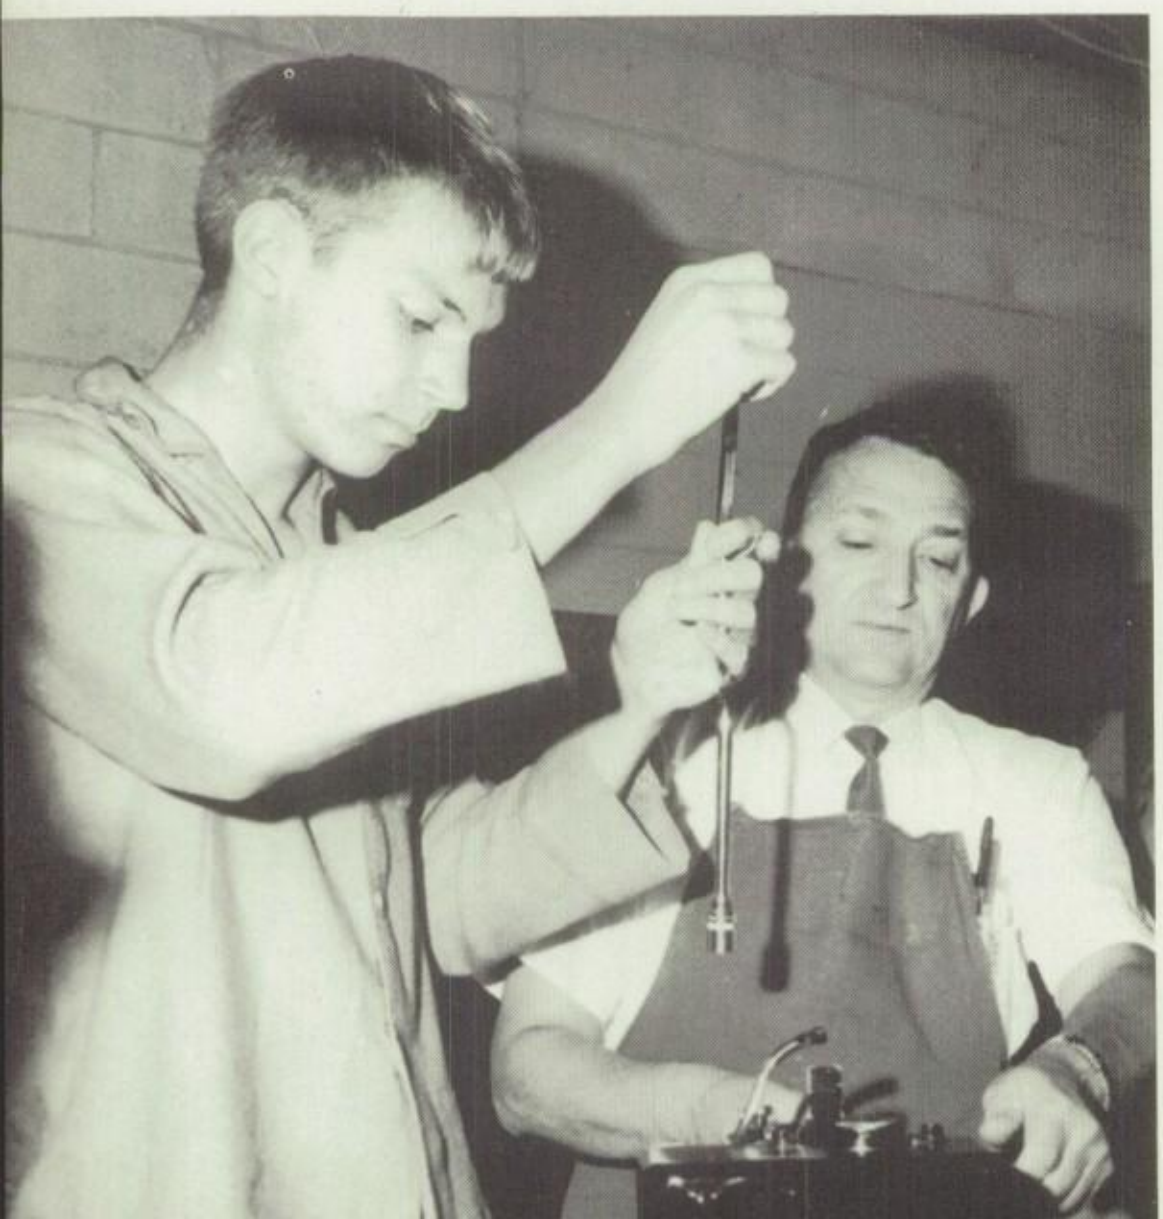
Basic Electricity covered the basic electrical concepts which included electrical measurements and use of currents. Basic Electronics course covered the basic electronic concepts necessary for understanding in the operation of common electronic equipment.

Mr. Lloyd Sundstrum illustrates the use of the overhead projector in electronics. He teaches Electronics.

Department Head: Mr. Herb Phillips gives a helpful hint to a student. Architecture and Machine Drafting are also included in his teaching.

Mr. Gene Redman is testing the electronics equipment in Surveying Electronics. His other classes are Basic Electronics.

Mr. Jim Walker aids a student in cleaning a motor. This is one of the skills learned in Power Mechanics.



Mr. Dave Elgin demonstrates to his Plastics cla other classes include Drafting and General Metals

Mr. Ron Murphy listens to students oral report on General Mechnics. He instructs Metals II.

Mr. Leo Spiering shows a specimen of wood to his Forestry class. Agricultural Forestry and Business Law complete his list of classes.

how to make a mold. His

Mr. Richard Osterman shows a Wood Shop student how to cut a block of wood.

Home Economics

Girls Prepare for the Future

Home Economics I introduced all six areas of Home Ec. Included in these areas are: relationships, food and nutrition, clothing management, housing and interior decorating, and child develpment.

In Homemaking II more advanced techniques and concepts are studied. A study of textiles, their properties and care was included in the clothing units along with the experience of sewing on wool or a man made fiber. Other units of interest included: home management, family, relationships, and child development.

In Homemaking III girls had more opportunity to choose the subject areas in which they were interested. Frozen food was used in the foods unit in cooking for two people. The girl planned, prepared and served meals by herself for her partner. Housing, effective shopping, establishing a home, pre-natal and infant care were also studied.

Senior Home Ec. was a compact course for senior girls who had not had Home Ec. in high school. This course covered all six areas in Home Ec. It was for girls who felt the need for some basic skills and knowledge in caring for herself, her home, and her future children.

Department Head: Mrs. Laura Kirk shows a student the art of interior decorating. She teaches Home Economics II and III.

Mrs. Jerilyn Lancaster commends her cooking students on ability. Her classes include Home Economics and U.S. History.

Art and Photography

You Learn by Doing

Art II was a beginning art course open to all high school students. The students explored and worked with a variety of materials and tools. This class helped them develop an awareness and an appreciation of art and design in their everyday life.

Art III was an advanced art course. To take this course students must have taken Art II and have the consent of the instructor. It was designed to further the interests and abilities of students in the arts area. The emphasis was on drawing, painting, and in the three dimensional arts.

Art IV was taken only with the consent of the instructor, with the prerequisite in Art III. This was specialized art, designed to encourage the interests and abilities of those students showing special talents in the fine arts area. The projects were on an individual basis and each student received personal guidance from the teacher.

Photography was open to all high school students. It was designed to provide students with the academic knowlege and the experience necessary to pursue photography as a hobby, and provide him with the basic skills necessary to continue photography on a professional basis. Upon the completion of the course the student was able to perform the following: take a picture, develop the film, enlarge the negative, and produce prints.

Mrs. Margaret Wingerd tells a student how to strengthen her art techniques. She teaches Art.

Students enjoy the library during their leisure time.

Library

Exploring Life Through Books

Thurston's library welcomed any student who wished to come in and enjoy the library. The library has an abundance of books this year. The head librarian took care of the books to be ordered and saw that all stuents were quiet and orderly. The teachers are allowed to order any books regarding the subject they teach. The reference material was kept up to date and has practically everything a student or teacher is looking for.

Library training was to give students a better understanding in using the library faclities. The class taught the young librarian to aid students and teachers in the library. The student librarians had different jobs to do and these jobs rotated from week to week.

The assistant librarian took care of placing orders for the teachers who use AV materials, and textbooks, made film repairs, and assisted the head librarian when needed.

Assistant Librarian: Mrs. Sally Thompson is available for the AV needs, textbooks, and film repairs.

Librarian: Mrs. Bertha Johnson is in charge of the library. Here she is shown taking inventory of books in the library.

Student uses the Drivotrainer simulator to test her driving ability.

Driver's Training

Safety Techniques Taught by Simulator

The use of the Aetna Drivotrainer equipment is being used again this year to help students gain more driving skills. The students alternate between the car and the simulator. The simulator took students through the skills of driving a real car by a movie and a machine representing a car. The simulator could instruct twelve students at a time.

The bookwork was given after school through the use of films and slides. Behind the wheel driving was given to the students during their PE classes.

The Drivotrainer program alternated between Thurston and Springfield High Schools every five weeks, and has shown itself to be very satisfactory.

Mr. Terry Maddox, new to Thurston this year, divided his time between Thurston and Springfield as one of the driver's training teachers.

Mr. Bob Paffrath demonstrates the use of the scaleograph to Mr. Robert Weaver and Journalism students.

Yearling Staff Gets Assistance from the Yearbook Representative

Journalism students try different lay-outs for this years yearbook.

Journalism

News Carried by Pony Express

The Journalism classes put forth their greatest effort to turn out a great Yearbook and equally great Newspaper.

Journalism I was a beginning course in newswriting and yearbook production. The newswriting class included writing and editing weekly news columns for the local newspapers and producing and editing a school newspaper. In the yearbook class skills in writing, organization, photography and layout were developed.

ADMINISTRATION

Principal

A "Way of Life"

Thurston High School is a way of life to its students, teachers and patrons. Goals are pursued with a spirit and zest that does not allow failure. This leads to a feeling of confidence that goals will be accomplished in all phases of school life.

We are proud of our educational accomplishments, proud of our standards of conduct and behavior, proud of our clubs and organizations, proud of our athletic prowess, proud of our community and city. We are fully dedicated to the task of demonstrating that Thurston High School is more than a school – rather, that it shall continue as a "Way of Life."

Alf R. Flaten

Mr. Alf Flaten, Principal, discusses the student body financial standing with Mr. Herb DeVos, Vice Principal.

Administration

Evaluation of Activity Account

Mr. Alf Flaten was responsible for student body activities, athletics, and general supervision of the administration of Thurston Senior High School. Curriculum development and teacher assignment, along with general supervision of the District's Data Processing functions, were among the more important responsibilities of Mr. Herb DeVos.

Assistant Vice-Principal and senior boys' counselor Mr. Curt Huey gives aid to students to qualify for graduation.

Mrs. Helen Cope, as counselor for sophomore and junior girls, helps them prepare their next years schedules.

Counselors

Deans Assist Students

If it is true that action speaks louder than words, then these combinations are only effective when today's counselors took charge in guiding and advising student life.

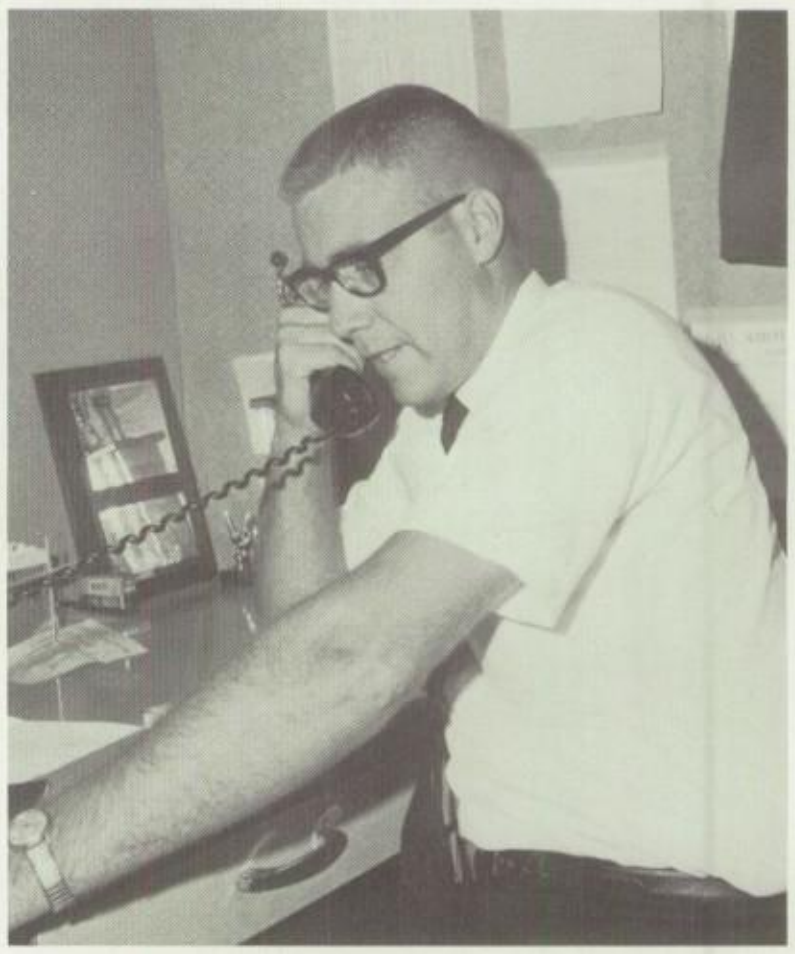
Mrs. Helen Cope also served as advisor to the Ponie Tails.

Mr. Curt Huey promoted good will among students as he put into effect graduation plans.

Mr. Lloyd Drake supervised sophomore and junior achievement tests.

Mrs. Rosemary Robertson (not pictured) was senior girls' counselor. She acted as advisor to the Rally Squad.

Mr. Lloyd Drake, the underclassmen boys' counselor takes charge of the scholarship program.



Mrs. Sally Thompson files information on AV records.

Mrs. Hazel Jessen makes calls concerning student attendance.

Secretaries

Specialists at Work

Mrs. Nickie Buss, Head Bookkeeper, takes care of school finances.

Mrs. Dorthy Jenson supervises office training and helps with student records.

Mrs. Tootie Ott is in charge of student records and filing of schedules.
